There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Bubonic Plague, Proved to Have Been Transmitted by Rat and Flea, is Being Controlled.

Bubonic plague is one of the oldest enemies of mankind and it used to be called the black death on account of the black spots that came on the body during the disease.

It is now supposed that many of the great plagues of history were of the bubonic variety, and thousands died during each great epidemic. Even in comparatively recent times 20,000 died of it in Bombay, India.

As is now well known, the disease is a rat disease, and as soon as the mode of transmission became known it was studied and is now controlled, says an exchange.

Bubonic plague is transmitted by the rat flea—the rat being the first host, as scientists say.

The attack is an acute infection, caused by a special germ given by the bite of a flea, in precisely the same way as both malaria and yellow fever are transmitted by mosquitoes.

This special kind of flea seems to prefer the rat as a place of attack, although in California this same kind of flea is found on ground squirrels.

Bubonic plague is fatal to the rats themselves and when a rat dies the fleas at once attach themselves to some other living animal, apparently preferring either cats or dogs to human beings. In fact, the finding of an unusual number of dead rats in any place where bubonic plague is suspected is one of the first indications of its possible presence.

Now, while there are known to be several kinds of rats, the black and the brown are the most common.

Brown rats live in cellars, while black ones seem to prefer to live in the parts of a house above the ground floor. Bubonic plague often breaks out in seaport towns, being brought there by rats in cargoes of grain. We know that the ancients knew bubonic plague and suffered terribly from its ravages, and the fact that the cat was held by the Egyptians as a sacred animal is traced to the protection from rats afforded to houses where cats were kept.

The disease commences with a raging fever, headache and complete prostration, and small dark spots appearing upon the skin. These spots were called plague spots. Buboes or swellings in the region of the groin appear. It is extremely malignant and recovery is very rare, mortality reaching 80 or 90 per cent.

Inoculations reduce the chances of subsequent infection four-fifths, and include the chance of recovery.

The great fire in London in 1666 destroyed thousands of infected rats and thus relieved England of the bubonic plague, which had been very frequent there since 1350.
